Gabriel Fauré: Complete Nocturnes

Gabriel Fauré was not driven to compose piano music with the same passion as his contemporary, Camille Saint-Saëns. He nevertheless produced music of striking elegance and intensity in his thirteen Nocturnes, thereby writing the next chapter in a genre pioneered by early Romantic composers, such as John Field and Frederic Chopin. Fauré's personal style, which combined classical formalism with advanced Romantic harmony, influenced several generations of French composers and performers. The thirteen Nocturnes were composed over a period of more than forty years, from the 1880's to the 1920's, and provide a window into Fauré's compositional development during a crucial period of French musical history.

DRAWN IN SOUND:

with Sally Pinkas

Sally Pinkas discusses these thirteen pivotal works of French repertoire, their roots and their place in Fauré's artistic development across 40 years of musical history.

THE ROMANTICS

A revolution in art and literature swept through Europe and by the early 1800's Romanticism dominated the musical landscape. Such figures as Beethoven, Mendelssohn, and Brahms exemplified the ideals yet maintained highly individual approaches. Now, our finest historically-informed musicians and scholars present this incomparable repertoire in a series destined to become an essential part of serious music lover's collection.
